

Westley Smith, MD

Vascular Surgery

Westley Smith, MD, is a fellowship trained specialist who practices vascular surgery. He is board certified in vascular surgery and strives to deliver the highest quality of care across a full spectrum of vascular health issues. Dr. Smith performs both complex open vascular operations, and modern state-of-the-art minimally invasive endovascular procedures. His unique ability to perform both open and endovascular surgeries allows for him and his patients to choose the best operation for each individual patient and situation.

Dr. Smith serves as regional director of Vascular Surgery for Trinity Health Mid-Atlantic and is dedicated to providing the highest quality of care for all vascular surgery patients. He also serves as the director of limb salvage and is the program director for the general surgery residency program of Nazareth Hospital.
